On the cycle path along the Serchio you leave the city once more. The mystical Devil's Bridge is a popular photo opportunity, directly on the bike path, its steepness is simply breathtaking. The pastel-coloured houses in Lerici give you a first impression of the Ligurian coast. From here it is only a few kilometres to your destination of La Spezia, a historic port city with a lot of art, culture and good food.

From there you travel with the glittering sea always on the right-hand side, from village to village (the route can be shortened at any time by train or boat).
